

ACADEMY OF EMERGENCY CARE
Emergency Dept. Cork University Hospital
www.sportscareacademy.com

Emergency First Responder

Participants who have completed this course will able to:

- List the role and responsibilities of the EFR.
- Discuss the EFR responsibility to personal safety.
- Discuss the roles and responsibilities of EFR with regard to safety at the scene of an accident.
- List common hazards found at the scene of a trauma or medical casualty.
- State the role of EFR until specialist help arrives if required.
- Accept & uphold responsibility of an EFR in line with the standards set down by PHECC.
- Realise when required the need to activate the emergency services.
- Demonstrate the ability to differentiate various scenarios and identify potential hazards.

Who should attend:

Experienced individuals who want to provide advanced pre-hospital Emergency Care (including Oxygen use).

Duration: 40 Hours

Course Content:

- Pre Hospital Emergency Care
- Casualty Assessment
- Trauma Emergencies
- Paediatric Emergencies
- Pre Hospital Emergency Care Operations
- Communications
- Clinical Procedures
- Respiratory Difficulty
- Medical Emergencies
- Obstetric Emergencies

Assessment:

PHECC EFR MCQ and Skills Assessments

Certification:

PHECC / AECS - EFR Certificate (valid for 3 years)

Cost:

Contact: www.sportscareacademy.com to book online or dave@sportscareacademy.com